JANUARY, 1937.—"If the population of our mental and penal institutions continues to increase as fast as it has in the past, I predict that we will all be in one or the other in the next ten years," Dr. P. Victor Peterson declared in the first science seminar of the winter quarter.

Juliano Calls For Revelries Dancers

"Come prepared to dance," says Joe Juliano, Revelries director, to all those trying out for dancing parts in the February show. Tryouts start tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Affecting an Italian dialect will be an asset for those who are trying out for any of the 15 major speaking-singing roles, the director said. In addition to the major parts, there will be room for many in the large chorus for the show, he added.

"All girls, whether their specialty is modern dancing or tap, are welcome to try out," commented Juliano. "Anyone trying out should come in slacks and be prepared to dance."

Juliano will judge the tryouts alone and announce the people who will play in the major roles. Committee heads and committees will be announced later.

SKATING PARTY TO BE HELD

"Students are invited to participate in a skating party Thursday, January 15, at the Rollerland, 1066 The Alameda," chairman of the ASB co-educational recreation committee said Friday.

Tickets will be on sale Friday in the Library arch and in the Graduate Manager's office, room 32. The party will be from 8:30 until 11 p.m. and tickets will be sold at a nominal cost to enable a large number of Spartans to attend.

Students interested in working with this newly-formed student body sponsored group may attend a meeting today at 4:30 p.m. in the Women's gym, said the chairman.

Last Day To Deposit Books

Today is the last day to deposit books for sale at the Student Book exchange, according to Ray Sommer, Alpha Phi Omega member who spends his time behind the counter.

"The Book Exchange will remain open until Friday at 4 p.m., and those who have books on deposit are requested to pick up either the cash or their books by then," stated Sommer.

We still want copies of "Approach to Literature," "Elements of Genetics," and a few other books, A-Phi-O members announced. The exchange is handled on a non-profit basis by members of A-Phi-O as one of their service projects to the school.

Installation Set For ROTC Society

Major Earl R. Kingsley, of the Military Science department, will formally install the newly organized Silver Saber society, advanced ROTC organization, at a dinner meeting at Lou's Village tonight, according to Jack Fowler, society president.

After the chapter installation, Major Kingsley will install Al Rosenga as chaplain, who will in turn install the remainder of the officers, stated Fowler.

New Lyeurgus Organization Is Approved

Al Campbell was appointed manager of Lyeurgus, campus magazine, in a reorganization of the staff approved by the Student Council in its first meeting of the quarter last night in the Student Union.

Campbell will be student executive over editorial and business departments of the publication. Marian Ellis will act as editor and Michael Thomas, business manager. Their appointments also were approved at the meeting.

Bob Culp was named Rally committee chairman and Clare McMurray was chosen to head the Social Affairs committee.

A committee to undertake revision of the constitution was appointed with Beverly Clay as chairman. Members who will assist include Phil Bray, Pat Walsh, Bill Logan, and Hal Serforth. Dean Paul Pitman and Dr. Leo P. Kibby will act with the committee.

No goal was set for the World Student Service Fund Drive which will take place on campus during the week of April 5 to 10. Paula Phillips and G. Hall Landry are co-chairmen of the drive. Council member Patty Polk will report to council on the progress of the drive.

The Student Council also: Accepted the resignation of Hubert "Bones" Thonrber, Jr., assistant yell leader.

ONE-ACT PLAY TRYOUTS WED.

Three one-act plays will be cast Wednesday at 4 p.m., reports Theodore Balgooyen, speech instructor. The plays, "Hello Out There" by William Saroyan, "Spring" by Colin Clements, and "The Miracle of Saint Anthony" by Maurice Maeterlinck will be directed by Roxanna Hildreth, Deane Healy and Stella Pinoris, respectively.

"Hello Out There" is an exciting drama about a young man who has been thrown in jail on a charge of adultery and is threatened with lynching by a small town mob. Eight persons are needed for the parts.

Fantasy is woven into "Spring," the story of two lonely people who meet on a park bench. This play requires three actors, "a gal, a gob, and a cop."

"The Miracle of Saint Anthony" tells of the Saint, disguised as a common beggar, coming to the home of a dying woman. That people do get what they pray for is the theme of the play.

Tryouts for "Hello Out There" will be in Barracks 9; "Spring," Barracks 2; and "The Miracle of Saint Anthony," in Barracks 3.

The three plays will have a four-night run starting February 9.

Physical Exams

"Any students entering San Jose State this quarter, who have not taken the necessary physical examination, should report immediately to the Health office, room 81, to arrange for an appointment," announces Miss Margaret Twombly, Health department head.

Sproats Have New Year's First Spartan

By BOB BODEN

Barbara Jeanne Sproat was acclaimed "Spartanette Of 1948" yesterday by Jim Caputo, "First Baby Of 1948" contest editor.

The infant, born at 6 a.m. New Year's day, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sproat of 382 Redwood avenue, San Jose.

Sproat, who is a sophomore social science major at San Jose State college, made the first and only entry in the contest conducted by the Spartan Daily advertising staff and merchants of San Jose.

Blue-eyed, 6 pound 9 ounce Barbara Jeanne captured a jackpot of 28 prizes donated by Spartan Daily advertisers. The gifts include 500 pounds of ice, a month's supply of milk, diaper service, two 8 x 10 photographs, a set of clothes hangers, and a box of cigars.

The Spartan family will appear on the radio show "Spartans On Review" in the near future, according to Jim Caputo, master of ceremonies. The program is heard every Monday at 8 p.m. over station KEEN.

A native of San Jose, Sproat met his wife while he was in the air corps stationed at Wright Field, Ohio, during the war. The couple has been married two years and this is their first child.

"Even though everything came off on time and without a hitch, I guess I was a typical first time father. Boy, did I sweat it out," Sproat said of his ordeal.

Beside capturing the "First Baby" award, Barbara Jeanne was the fourth baby born in San Jose on New Year's day. She arrived in Community Service hospital and the attending physician was Dr. Lee Blanchard.

Alumni Association Sends Chapel Calendars

The Alumni Association, headed by Edward Wetterstrom, has mailed over 1900 San Jose State college calendars to former Spartans, reports Miss Robinson of the Placement office.

Ero Sophian and Phi Kappa Pi Affiliate With National Groups

Ero Sophian society and Phi Kappa Pi are the latest local social societies to join the roster of national affiliates at San Jose State college, according to Dean of Women Helen Dimmick.

Formal pledging of Ero Sophian to Alpha Phi, international fraternity, took place Sunday afternoon at Hotel Sainte Claire.

ALPHA PHI

Alpha Phi, which celebrates its 75th anniversary in October, was founded at the University of Syracuse. The organization has been outstanding for its high standards of character, scholarship and leadership.

Affiliation with Alpha Phi climaxes a half-century of activity on the Spartan campus for Ero Sophian. The group was founded in 1898. President of the organization is Bonnie Lingenfelter.

Phi Kappa Pi was granted a petition of affiliation with Gamma Phi Beta, national sorority, yesterday afternoon. Formal pledging will take place on Saturday with members of the Eta chapter of Gamma Phi Beta at University of California participating.

GAMMA PHI BETA

Gamma Phi Beta was founded on the Syracuse University campus in 1874. There are more than 50 chapters of the group throughout the United States and Canada.

Members of Phi Kappa Pi have been active in all student activities on campus, having members in Spartan Spears, Black Masque, Student Council, AWS cabinet, and many other organizations. Charlotte Harder is president of the group.

VA Probes Vets' Subsistence Delay

The 50 San Jose State college veterans still suffering financial hardship as a result of prolonged delay in the arrival of subsistence checks, were promised relief yesterday by Robert P. Shields, regional manager of the Veterans Administration.

Shields, heading a VA investigating committee, visited the campus late yesterday in response to persistent appeals from the Dean of Men's office, the Business office, and the college veterans' office. He stated that the records have been checked and clarified for more than half of the veterans in question, and that checks will be mailed them immediately.

Mr. Shields indicated that every effort will be made to expedite payment of subsistence to the remaining veterans whose financial records still remain to be straightened out.

To facilitate speedy handling of veterans' accounts, a VA representative in the person of Loren Mowrey will be available for consultation in the college veterans' office every afternoon beginning today, Mr. Shields announced.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Students of nine California colleges today backed a national "students for Wallace" conference, proposed for Chicago in April. The students formed a state organization over the week end to support Henry A. Wallace's independent campaign. The state organization will link active political groups favoring the Wallace candidacy on the nine campuses, and will attempt to work for a national program with students in other states.

Schools represented at the two-day conference were University of California, UCLA, Stanford, College of Pacific, Los Angeles City College, San Jose State, San Francisco State, San Francisco Junior College and Santa Rosa Junior College.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (UP)—The Navy said today that 500 officers will start school next month at the plush Del Monte Hotel, Monterey, to get a "well-rounded working knowledge of the Navy afloat and ashore."

SJSC HISTORY STORMY

After a weekend to recover from New Year's and the past ordeal of classes during last week, we Spartans must take cognizance of the coming year. This is 1948, the year of California's centennial. Just 100 years ago gold was discovered near Sacramento. Ten years later gold that does not glitter was found in San Francisco—San Jose State college was founded.

A state which has been keynoted by progress and rapid growth soon was formulated and California was off to a good start. After San Jose State college (it went by another name at that date) had proved itself to be the guardian of educational gems for eleven years, the California legislature decided to found another little house of education, the University of California at Berkeley.

Always leaders, the Spartans soon outgrew San Francisco, and trundled down to San Jose. Here we are still feeling growing pains, and wondering where we can house the overflow. Native Sons are rallying around for one grand blow-out of a celebration in this glorious year, '48.

Never let it be said that the Spartans of San Jose can be outdone. In a few years it will be our turn to celebrate our centennial. The year '58 will be one which all Sparta will long remember, for it will be the year of our celebration. Sparta shall ring then, let California have its few licks now. Our day is a'comin'.

BITS OF BANTER

By ABNER FRITZ

Happppp-pppeeee Nooo Yee-aar!!!! While all those who bet on the University of Southern California make a long trip to the nearest chaplain, we will settle down and enjoy a moment of retrospect at the closing minutes of 1947.

We sincerely hope that you enjoyed your pre-1948 celebration. There were numerous parties all over town, and we know of several where the hors d'oeuvres outlasted the soda pop. Next day the kids came back for more dinner.

Poor Lou Jano. He and his wife had a few friends over on a "chip-in" for which Lou volunteered the services of his Cleaves St. domicile. Everything was fine, except for Lou's brainstorm to pass out confetti to some of the visitors. The confetti made a nice covering for the floors, replacing the rugs, which had been rolled up the previous afternoon.

Also, there wasn't a clean dish in the place for Thursday morning's breakfast. Jano, whose nickname is now "Pearl-diver," says, "It was fun while it lasted."

Pity poor little Jane Potter. Janie had herself a case of the nasty old flu, but nevertheless had a little fun at the stroke of midnight. Her old buddy, Barbara "Jeff" Brewster, sat at the foot of her (censored) and threw confetti in her face. Oh joy, oh joy.

We had fun at our house, too. It was almost midnight. Most of the lights were out. There were a few lights in the living room, but none any place else in the house. The family was all waiting to usher in the little tot called '48.

The minute hand raced through the last few minutes on the clock to join the hour hand standing with its tip resting on the number 12. Soon it was there. Throughout the city the sounds of celebration and inebriation blared forth. Even here, there was some merriment. The folks in the living room all wished each other a happy 1948 and then retired. The figure in the bedroom (I was sound asleep at the time) groaned, snored, and then slept until noon the next day. It seemed that Wednesday afternoon the rigors of attending classes, following so closely on the heels of the rigorous registration grind we underwent Tuesday, had brought about an attack of either virus X, malaria, infectious mononucleosis, or some combination of any or all of these, or to put it more simply, a case of the flu.

So here we are starting off the new year, a little weak from not celebrating or even being able to celebrate. We've heard of people being paid not to coach football teams, and not to play for certain baseball teams, and we know of people who have been paid not to do a lot of things.

But if it is all the same to everyone else, if we are going to walk around on January 2 feeling weak and anemic (I mean even more anemic), we would at least like to enjoy the stimuli that has put the same worn, haggard look on the faces of our dear friends, who scoff at our story and say, "Yeah, I had a good time, too."

SGO MAKES WAY FOR NEW YEAR

Confetti and the shrieks of toy horns filled the air at Almaden Park Hall on New Year's Eve as 60 members, alumni, and guests of Sigma Gamma Omega social fraternity ushered out the old year, according to Mert Root, SGO president.

Music for dancing was off-the-record, and refreshments for the evening were culminated with a buffet supper. Two large balloons, filled with confetti and suspended from the ceiling, were burst at midnight. Crepe paper streamers and mistletoe completed the decorations.

Dave Horn and Bud Brown headed the committee in charge of all final arrangements for the party.

DANCERS TREK TO SPIN AT UC

The Spartan Spinners, San Jose State's folk dance organization, will travel to the University of California Sunday, January 11, for the first regional folk dance festival to be held in '48.

According to Mrs. Sarah R. Wilson, advisor of the club, dancers and interested spectators may sign up for the trip at the Spinners' meeting, which will be held Tuesday evening at 8:45 p.m. Folk dancers will ride to the festival in a chartered bus, which leaves at 11:30 Sunday morning and will return around 7 p.m. Cost of the round trip is 50 cents per person. "Even if you aren't a folk dancer," said Mrs. Wilson, "come anyway. The dance will be held in the Men's gym, and there is plenty of room for spectators."

THAT'S THE LIFE

AMERICAN STUDENTS SHARE IN CASUAL BRITISH COLLEGE LIFE

Breakfast in your room, one exam every two years, and classes if you're in the mood—those are a few features of college life in Britain. A life that's being shared by several hundred Americans—mostly veterans—currently attending English universities.

Living and studying in colleges built before Columbus discovered America, these Yanks are enrolled in institutions ranging from Oxford and Cambridge to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art and the Leathersellers' Technical College. And according to Paul Pearson, reporting on college life abroad for Varsity, the young man's magazine—Americans are deeply impressed by England's system of education.

"Casual" is the word to describe the English student, says Pearson. He is more serious than his American counterpart (but no more "eager"), is jolly without being a back-slapper, and tends to "talk shop" constantly. Instead of cheering wildly at a soccer or cricket game, he can be counted on—in cases of extreme excitement—to say, "Well done, Cambridge!"

Modest and quiet application, the Varsity article states, is the keynote of the English educational method. Degrees are awarded only on the basis of long exams given at the end of two or three years of study. Classes are

ATOM-POWERED ROCKET TRIPS TO OTHER PLANETS CONTEMPLATED BY PROFESSOR ERNEST GREEN

By VIVIAN BROADLEY

"A trip to the moon? Fantastic? Not at all!" According to Ernest S. Greene, Ph.D., associate professor of physics, atom power will enable man to skyrocket himself to other spheres whenever he gets curious enough to want to go there. Dr. Greene will conduct a class next spring in the latest developments concerning the physics of atomic power.

"In fact," Dr. Greene explained, "right now, a skyrocket to the moon is as plausible as atom-motored airplanes. The amount of concrete necessary to shield a plane from the damaging rays of radio activity would ground it." He commented that, thus, an ordinary car propelled by atomic power would weigh as much as a truck.

The popular doctor, whose desk is a veritable atomic information mine, was keenly enthusiastic about the unlimited field atom-splitting had created.

"This phenomenon has expanded the possibilities for solving many of the riddles of the universe," Dr. Greene stated. "It even may be used to discover how plants grow."

"Radio isotopes," the genial doctor pointed out, "are casks of radio-active carbon. The carbon atom, for example, has a different weight because of a greater number of positive charges in the nucleus than the 'average' atoms have. Atoms that have this different weight are unstable and this instability results in radio activity. Very simple," he remarked. "The carbon radio isotope (or radiostope) is called carbon 14.

"Discount the rumors about atomic power plants replacing hydroelectric (water power) plants," Dr. Greene warned, "for manufacture of isotopes are being stored for future use. When interplanetary communication is within our scope there is a remote chance of frittering away our newly acquired resources before we really know how extensive they are."

Two fields that welcome atomic power are the heat consuming industries and the medical profession. Bearings that can run for years will thank atomic power for their longevity. The steel alloy industry will be able to discover temperature checks on melts by means of radio activity instead of by the present system of spectrographic analysis.

"Operations without knives and radiation therapy will virtually guarantee health to many who are today considered incurable," Dr. Greene proclaimed.

"Sterilization of sewage is one of the most important uses of radio isotopes. Henceforward, no disease can make headway from this source," Dr. Green disclosed.

As for vocations, technicians and medical experts for industry, and new types of positions due to the application of scientific techniques to various fields will provide work for many people, if the doctor's predictions are correct.

Because atomic fuel is infinitesimal in cost—5 mills per kilowatt hour for production—countries that have relatively little or no coal can become electrified at less cost than countries depending upon coal as a source of illumination and heat. In this way, it is possible that India and China might make use of atomic power plants before other nations do.

Want a reservation for the first transplanetary flight? For details contact Professor Greene. Perhaps you can be in on the ground floor of the project.

With mistletoe in full swing this Christmas vacation, wedding and betrothal news is fast pouring in.

December 23 is the date of the marriage of Billie Grey Maples, general elementary major from San Luis Obispo, to Larry Johnson, who is majoring in pre-engineering at San Mateo Junior college. The couple is now residing in San Mateo.

Norma Jean Self, sophomore art major from Keddle, recently announced plans of her marriage next fall to Ray Bishop, former frosh prexy from San Jose and a sophomore in the Speech department.

Betty Regan, senior art major from San Jose, will marry Harry Farrell, senior journalism major from San Jose and author of a recent feature in Lycurgus on campus romance. Betty is the sister of Bill Regan, photographer at the San Jose News. No date has been set for the wedding.

Shirley Vaughn, junior general elementary major from Sacramento, has announced her engagement to Jim Van Maren, police major, also from the capitol city. The wedding will be next fall.

Hilda Johnson, an employee of the San Jose Mercury Herald and News, will marry Fred Merrick, who is on the staff of the Mercury Herald. Fred, a former Spartan, was on the Spartan Daily staff and was a member of Tau Delta Phi, honorary fraternity. The couple is planning a September wedding.

Spartans Face Wolves At Reno

While the San Jose State Spartan basketball squad is being entertained by the Nevada Wolfpack at Reno twice this weekend, the COP Tigers and the CaliPoly Mustangs open the CCAA cage season Friday evening at San Luis Obispo.

On Saturday night, the conference schedule gets into full time basis as COP meets Santa Barbara and Fresno entertains Cal Poly at Fresno.

The Spartans and the Wolves have both had a successful season so far this year. They both defeated Nebraska last week. Last week's other victim of the Pack included Brigham Young twice, while the Spartans managed to climb over San Francisco State and the San Francisco Athletic Club by impressive margins.

San Jose State has now won 7 and lost 3, while Nevada has a 6 and 4 record. Pacific's record is 3 and 5, while Fresno has won 7 and dropped 4.

This week's cage schedule and record:

TED MUMBY

SJ Grapplers Prepare For Opener Friday

Heavy workouts have been slated this week for the Spartan varsity wrestling squad which opens its 1948 season against the powerful Olympic Club, Coach Ted Mumby announced.

This wrestling match with the Clubmen in San Francisco Friday evening will be a test to Spartan strength and possibly their chances of a successful season.

DOC. NORTHRUP

Last year, the Spartans won a thriller from the Clubmen by an 188-15 score. The Olympians appear stronger this year and will be led by their colorful wrestling ace, Doc. M. A. Northrup. He has held the 135 pound AAU titles several times during the past 20 years.

However, the Spartans have several stars of their own including Freddie Albright who won the 135 pound Pacific Coast Intercollegiate title in 1942. To add to the Winged O woes, the Spartans also have Ray Miser who co-captained the Spartans to a successful season last year, and Sam Lawson who won the Roumasset Award last season.

PAYNE BROTHERS

Miser wrestled at 165 pounds last year, while Lawson's weight was 155. Both Payne brothers, Ralph and Tom, figure to give their opponents plenty of trouble. Pat Felice and Carl Holmberg, who won Northern California Junior Wrestling titles in their 165 and 139 pound divisions last year, also may see action Friday evening.

Coach Mumby, however, is not expected to name his full squad until Thursday.

Meanwhile, the novices are feverishly training for the novice tourney which is slated for the first of next month.

Inman Leads Spartan Cage Scoring

With six victories and three losses to their credit, the San Jose State hoopsters move into Reno this weekend for a series of two games with the University of Nevada. This will be the last appearance of the Spartans before beginning their CCAA schedule against Santa Barbara next week.

Stu Inman tops the scoring chart for the Gold and White team with 119 points. Inman is closely followed by Bob Hagen, who has tallied 110 to date.

Bob Wnesthoff, clever Spartan guard, is not far behind with 100 digits to his credit. Chuck Hughes, who has been with the football team in Hawaii, has chalked up 31 points in the three games in which he has played.

Coach Walt McPherson's men have displayed real improvement in the last three games over their first few appearances of the season. The team work of the Spartans has been improving with each succeeding contest.

By January 16, when they meet Santa Barbara College, San Jose should be ready to put in one of their best games of the season.

Hartranft Attends Coaches Meet

Athletic Director Glen "Tiny" Hartranft left for New York Sunday to attend the American Football Association's convention which is being held there this month.

Hartranft will represent the CCAA conference at the meeting, and will give a report when he returns here January 14. His main interest there will be the so-called NCAA purity code which is one of the main topics being discussed by the coaches.

Portal Plans To Install Scoring System

By BARNEY BARNETT

Plans are being drawn up and bids will be let soon to either tear down one wall or remove the roof from the Men's gym, according to the latest word from boxing coach Dee Portal.

Portal's new system of scoring boxing matches has made this renovating necessary because under the new way a large time clock is utilized.

Wayne Fontes, 165 lb. Pacific Coast Intercollegiate champion, decided to turn his talents to watchmaking and, aided by his brother-in-law, undertook construction of the timer.

"We can't do anything but tear part of the gym down," Portal declared after making a thorough survey of the problem.

Spartan Nine Is Promising This Year

Over 60 men have signed for this year's edition of the Spartan baseball team, including veterans for practically every position.

Men from last year's club, which finished second in the CCAA race, include: Ralph Romero, Bob Pifferini, Con Maloney, George Wehner, Ralph Kling, Frank Vizza, Jack Marclan, Tex Phillips, and Jack Burtner.

Bob Pifferini, all-conference pitcher on last year's nine, will lead the throwing staff and George Wehner will again patrol first base.

Coach Walt Williams' biggest problem will occur in rebuilding his catching staff and infield. Chuck Wilson and Jake Kacuuchi, last year's receivers, will not return. The graduation of Wayne Krouskup and George Smith leaves a big hole in the infield.

Tex Phillips, who led the Spartans at the plate will be back at shortstop to give the team hitting punch.
